Been doing the stuff of everyday life: awaken, eat, work, eat, sleep, play with babies whenever available.

I swear it was 1983 when I fell asleep last night.

Every day is over before I get anything done.

Been working on my mid-life cleaning for at least 15 years. I have given away, recycled, reused, composted, buried, trashed, and burned. And I have more stuff now than when I started. The house is obviously bigger on the inside.
